

SENATOR MARSH: I will be glad to respond.

SENATOR HABERMAN: Senator Marsh, on page 2 there has been some language deleted. Does that have any effect upon what you are saying? It says commencing with the fall semester of '75 the University of Nebraska or Lincoln School...

SENATOR MARSH: That is obsolete language, Senator. And since it speaks to 1975, it is simply being removed from...the obsolete language is being removed.

SENATOR HABERMAN: And it also says that it is not limited to television, radio communications, affiliated subjects, that...you say that is already...that is obsolete?

SENATOR MARSH: That...yes, sir, it is speaking to the fall semester of 1975 and the obsolete language is being removed. It does not change anything, Senator, except the verbiage, "College of Journalism" to...

SENATOR HABERMAN: Thank you, Senator Marsh.

SENATOR MARSH: Yes.

PRESIDENT: To what? College of Journalism. Very well. Senator Barrett.

SENATOR BARRETT: Thank you, Mr. President, and members, I can rise with some enthusiasm in support of LB 28. Frankly, I, like so many, perhaps was unaware of the fact that this was not a college of journalism and I, for one, appreciate the fact that Senator Marsh called it to our attention. A good hearing...as I understand it, the School of Journalism is now a little larger than the School of Architecture, School of Law, School of Home Economics; over 1200 students. Enrollment is up about 10 percent this year. They are doing an excellent job and again, I appreciate Senator Marsh bringing it to our attention. I would hope the body would concur. Thank you.

PRESIDENT: Is there further discussion on LB 28? Senator Marsh.

SENATOR MARSH: I renew my motion to advance it to E & R Initial.
